Drs. Mark & Michele Sherwood

Dr. Michele is a trained Doctor of Osteopathy; Dr. Mark is a trained Naturopathic doctor. The Sherwoods have a successful medical practice, the Functional Medical Institute; also a television program; as well as provide resources, including their two best-selling books, "The Quest for Wellness" and "Fork Your Diet", nutrition plans, fitness instructional videos, and helpful mental and emotional steps to provide relief from stress and to help people form better habits so they can live well.

As research has evolved the two doctors have started working more with DNA testing and now they include DNA tests as an integrated part of their functional medicine treatment strategies. They have experience with hundreds of DNA tests and have seen how the results of these have made huge impacts on their patient outcomes. They now wish to share their experiences with other practitioners and teach foundational information about Nutrigenetics as well as clinical pearls of wisdom. Mark and Michele are experienced motivational and educational speakers whose presentations are sought by audiences nationwide.

"Outstanding training! Mark and Michele were some of the best trainers I've ever had! I am new to nutrigenomics, but I now have new tools to help my patients."

Dr. Bruce A. Moyer PsyD

"This training is practice transforming. If you use the information and knowledge learned during the course, you can really impact patients' health long term."

Terri Litty, MD

 dnahealth®

"This dnahealth® test is really a great option to optimizing your health based on your genetics."

Mark Hyman, MD

 dnamind

"I find DNA testing is helpful to relay personalize treatments in patients. dnalife® tests have only the clinically relevant SNPs that are actionable."

Todd LePine, MD

 medcheck™

"medcheck™ is a must-have tool for your patients. The information provided is critical for proper medication selection that is personalized to the unique needs of each patient."
